

FRIENDS OF SUSTAINABILITY AND THE BUILT ENVIRONMENT (SBE)

YOUR GUIDE TO GIVING TO THE ANNUAL FUND

How do Annual Fund Dollars Make the Planet a Better Place?

Sustainability and the Built Environment is the newest program at the College of Design, Construction, and Planning, and it is the fastest growing program with over 100 majors and 40 minors' students. The program was established fall of 2008 and is now proud of graduating 127 leaders and future consumers and conservers, who are working to protect the planet.

Every contribution, regardless of amount, to the Annual Fund is very important. Your support is highly valued by the students who receive scholarship awards to attend conferences with an experience that will last a life time, go on a field trip to witness sustainability in action, provide tools and technology necessary to be top in the field, and take professional examination for credentialing. Your annual contribution means that someone believes in their abilities, can see their potential and desires to help them to achieve their academic goals. Your contribution is a gift of trust...trust in the students who will lead and make the world a better place for future generations.
