TEACHING PHILOSOPHY:

My success as a teacher is determined by accommodating my students' needs. I continuously seek their feedback to know how they are doing, and to adapt instruction to meet their needs. I establish an environment that encourages students to offer comments, give opinions, ask questions, and share their knowledge. I also give them feedback to know how they are doing and what they can do to improve. In that respect, I grade and return all quizzes and exams promptly.

INSTRUCTIONAL METHODS:

The class meets two lecture hours and two lab hours per week. The lab hours will be used for review of different set of drawings, problem solving, case studies, attending the computer lab, field trips, guest speakers, and quizzes and exams.
