

BCN 6905
Graduate Independent Study
Course Syllabus

Faculty member responsible for course:

Dr. R Edward Minchin Jr., P.E., Associate Prof.
Director, Masters Programs
302, Rinker Hall

(O) 352-273-1153
(H) 352-485- 2003

e-mail: minch@ufl.edu

Office Hours: TBA

Prerequisites: Graduate Standing and qualified faculty member to act as course instructor

Material and Supply Fee: $0

Textbook: N/A

Software: N/A

Readings: N/A

Attendance: As arranged with course instructor.

Note: May be taken for 1-5 hours credit per term, for up to 12 credits total, with school approval

General

This is an elective, self-directed course for majors and non-majors who wish to investigate a specific area of construction management. This course may be repeated for credit with a change of topic.

Goal

The primary goal of the course is to provide students with research exploration of a specific topic of interest to the individual student under the advisement of an instructor who will monitor and critique the student's progress.

Objectives

Variable

Performance

Since this is self-directed study, there must be agreement between the student and instructor as to final products. The study must be substantially completed in the semester taken.

Text

Variable