

Lindsey Walker's Bio

Lindsey Walker earned her Bachelor of Science and Master of Fine Arts degree from Florida State University. She is currently pursuing her Ph.D. in Design, Construction, and Planning at the University of Florida with a concentration in Interior Design. Her dissertation study aims to develop models of communication that inform evidence-based design strategies for architecture and design project teams to facilitate an effective hybrid work environment.

Lindsey currently works full time for JLL as a Senior Analyst. She is responsible for actively supporting the strategy, process, and future products within the Experiential Spaces discipline. The products will address the new needs of the emerging hybrid workforce while in the office. Lindsey works with internal partners, account teams, and other external agencies to identify the needs and solutions for product development, improvements, and innovation. She is a key support for global product owners and managers. She is a member of the JLL National Women's Network, CREW Orlando, EDRA, IDEC, and IIDA.
