alakshendra@ufl.edu

Class Periods: Monday 7-9 period ARCH 423

Office Hours: Wednesday 1.00-3.00 PM and/or by appointment.

Course Description:

This course offers an overview of selected important topics in economic development planning at local, national, and international level. Urban planning and economic development often intersect in real world. Several economic development issues both at micro and macro level, such as employment, taxes, subsidy, human capital formation, investment, influence of technology, rapid globalization, innovative entrepreneurship, and overall growth, greatly affect the built environment through many different channels. This course will evaluate some of these developmental issues and the channels using theoretical and empirical perspective. This course also aims to give you an understanding of pressing issues in developing countries. The planning process in India (from 1950-current) will be discussed thoroughly and compared with different development models adopted internationally. This course will be applied in nature and will take an interdisciplinary approach.

Textbook:

Required: Nancy Green Leigh and Edward J, Blakely, Planning Local Economic Development (5th Edition), Sage Publication.

Recommended Texts:

Michael P. Todaro and Stephen C. Smith, Economic Development (11th Edition), Prentice Hall.

Course expectations:

I don't assume prior knowledge of economics. Some class time will be used to cover basics of economics.

Instructional Methods:

Classes will be conducted using lectures, discussions, and audio-visual presentations.

Course Requirements:

Weekly reading- you are expected to read and intellectually comprehend assigned readings for class discussion. Two readings will be assigned each week (most of the weeks) for class discussion. Students are required to post their critical assessment of the readings by Saturday night, before our discussion on the articles (by 11:55 PM Saturday every week).

Assignment- you are required to do 2 assignments. The assignments are an important component of the course and each will count toward your final grade. You will be given at least 7 days (announced in the class) to complete your assignments.

Class Presentation- each student is expected to present an assigned chapter from the textbook. Student will be notified in advance about the presentation. Instructor will present and discuss related material (not from the textbook) from various sources. These student presentations will count towards their final grades. The instructor and the fellow students will grade you on presentation clarity, depth, and on the ease of answering related questions.

Project- during the semester, students are expected to identify a research topic of their interest. Final project for the course includes, a research idea (300-500 words), bibliography, a comprehensive research proposal/paper (not more than 10 double space pages including bibliography), and a presentation (20-30 minutes).

Grading:

- Assignment: 30% of the final grades (2X15%)
- Article Summary: 15% of the final grades (5 articles)
- Class Participation: 10% of the final grades
- Class Presentation: 5% of the final grades
- Final project:
  - Research Idea: 5% of the final grades (Due September 5)
  - Bibliography: 5% of the final grades (Due September 26)
  - Presentation: 10% of the final grades (To be scheduled)
  - Final Proposal/Paper: 20% of the final grades (TBA)
