COURSE DESCRIPTION: This course addresses the history and fundamental theory of planning. Understanding the history and theory of planning requires that we consider three separate but related elements. First, is the evolution of the city as a physical, social, and economic entity. Second, is the evolution of planning as a process, which takes us beyond the field of city planning. Cities have been planned and built by a wide variety of actors, including engineers, politicians, capitalists, architects, lawyers, doctors, radicals, conservatives, craftspeople, and workers. Third, planning has evolved in the United States and in Western Europe since the late 19th Century through a profession of people calling themselves city planners. They, too, have been very diverse, driven by many different motivations and seeing the profession in widely differing ways based upon, among other factors, the various theories of planning. These theories will be discussed within the context of the history of planning and their implications for planning practice. Because engaging with the public interest is integral to the planning profession and given the role planning has had in shaping urban and regional environments with direct consequences for quality of life, issues of social and racial justice form an essential framework throughout this course.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES: At the conclusion of this course, you should be able to:

- Classify and explain the various roles that planners play in the public and private sectors, and within specializations.
- Interpret the various styles of planning and planners' interactions with other participants in the development of cities and regions.
- Develop your own perspective on planning theory.
- Identify, analyze, and critique the justifications for planning and the influence of critical periods in planning history on contemporary planning practice.
- Strengthen
 - critical thinking skills,
 - presentation and verbal communication skills,
 - evaluation and argumentation skills, and

- written communication skills that will be important in professional practice.
- Explore “key issues in equity, diversity, and social justice that emphasize planners’ role in expanding choice and opportunity for all persons, plan for the needs of the disadvantaged, reduce inequities through critical examination of past and current systems and disparities, and promote racial and economic integration” (PAB, 2017, p. 11).

HOW THIS COURSE RELATES TO THE STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES IN THE DEPARTMENT OF URBAN AND REGIONAL PLANNING: This course will allow students to demonstrate their understanding of human settlement, contemporary practice, organizational/institutional structures, and policies and processes relevant to the profession of planning. Students will demonstrate critical thinking and professional visual, oral, and written communication skills.

TEACHING PHILOSOPHY: This course is designed to allow students to practice the kinds of skills they will use as planning professionals. Assignments have been designed to develop the following skills that will be important in professional practice: (1) critical thinking; (2) presentation (verbal communication); (3) evaluation and criticism; (4) argumentation; and (5) written communication skills. In addition, this course is designed to enable you to begin thinking from an interdisciplinary perspective about the ways in which landscape architecture, planning, architecture, and historic preservation inform our work in the built environment and collaborative innovations that are moving these related fields forward.

INSTRUCTIONAL METHODS: This course will be run primarily as a seminar and will include lectures, readings, in-class discussions, videos, in-class presentations, and written assignments. Writing well is a critical skill in planning. Thus, being able to effectively communicate your ideas and analysis of course material in writing will form an important component of this course.

COURSE COMMUNICATIONS: General questions can be posted to the Canvas class website discussion board. Private questions can be emailed to the instructor through the Canvas email.

COURSE TEXTS: The first two are required; the third is strongly recommended.

The course is organized around eight modules. During the term, you will prepare a Book Critique and Presentation and submit two essays. One is entitled "What is Planning," and is due early in the semester. The other will be your final paper. Please note, the University standard is for students to expect to study at least 3 hours for each credit hour. So, for URP 6100 you should expect to study 9 hours per week outside of class.

Assignments	Points Possible	Percent of Grade
Writing Expectations and Avoiding Plagiarism	60	6%
Mid-point Reflections	40	4%
What is Planning Essay	150	15%
Book Presentation	150	15%
Book Critique	200	20%
Final Paper	300	30%
Attendance & Participation	100	10%
Total:	1000	100%

In written work, the format for all attributions should follow the format used by the Journal of the American Planning Association (JAPA) based upon the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association, 7th Edition (2020). For a quick online guide to in-text citations, see: <https://apastyle.apa.org/style-grammar-guidelines/citations>.

Citations should appear in text as follows (using the course text): (Hall, 2014) when using a general idea from the text or (Hall, 2014, p. 318) when using a specific quote or data from the text (in this case, on page 318). All papers must include a reference list. For a quick online guide to proper formatting of reference lists, see: <https://apastyle.apa.org/style-grammar-guidelines/references/examples>.

COURSE POLICIES:

ZOOM CLASS ETIQUETTE: UF policy requires us to meet during the scheduled class times. All classes will be held in-person and through Zoom. If you are not able to attend in person, please notify the instructor in advance. Everyone should join class with the video camera on and keep the camera on so we can more effectively engage with each other. If you cannot do this, please discuss it with your instructors.

CLASS ATTENDANCE AND PARTICIPATION: You are expected to come to class on time, do the readings ahead of time, be prepared to discuss them, be an active listener, and participate regularly. Roll will be taken each class. Please notify the instructor beforehand if you need to miss a class or need to leave early. You are expected to come to class on time and to stay until the end. The following rubric will be employed to assign attendance and participation points for each class.

Preferred	Acceptable	Minimal	Unsatisfactory	Will ask you to leave
Arrives on time	Arrives no more than 5 min late	Arrives no more than 10 min late	Arrives more than 10 min late (w/o explanation)	Absent
Comments are relevant and reflect understanding and good preparation	Comments are mostly relevant, but understanding may be slightly lacking	Comments are minimal and demonstrate poor preparation	No comments are made	Disruptive or rude comments are made
Clear enthusiasm	Not overly enthusiastic, but positive	Demeanor is sluggish	Sleeping, texting, online, disengaged	Drawing others into disrespectful behaviors

PERSONAL CONDUCT POLICY: Above all else, the classroom is a place of respect for people and ideas. You are expected to treat your fellow classmates, the instructor, guests, and others with respect and politeness. Please be on time and prepared to share your informed questions, impressions, and interpretations of that day's reading materials. If you need to leave class early, please let me know ahead of time. We will take a break in the middle of the three-hour block. Students engaging in disruptive behavior, including using their electronic devices for any non-class uses, will be asked to leave the class and will be marked absent for the day.

The following rules apply to the discussion in class:

- Be critical of ideas, not people
- Listen to everyone's ideas even if you don't agree
- Try to understand all sides of an issue
- Talk through issues, don't try to change other's minds
- Stay focused; stick to the subject
- Avoid overly long stories, anecdotes, or examples
- Don't dominate the conversation; let all participate
- Remember there are no right answers; many plans and policies involve tradeoffs between different values.

GRADING POLICIES:

LATE ASSIGNMENTS: Meeting deadlines matters! All assignments are due as indicated on the Course Schedule. Computer problems that arise during submission will not be accepted as an excuse for late work. All work must be completed and submitted by the designated date and time in Canvas. Late assignments will be marked down half a grade for each day they are late (i.e., from a B+ to a B for being a day late). A day is defined as 24 hours and begins immediately from the due date and time (i.e., the assignment is due at 11:59 p.m. on Wednesday, and you submit it at 12:05 a.m. on Thursday - that assignment is now marked down as being one day late). Information in regard to UF's grading policy can be found here.

UF POLICIES:

UNIVERSITY POLICY ON ACCOMMODATING STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES: Students with disabilities requesting accommodations should first register with the Disability Resource Center (352-392-8565, dso.ufl.edu/drc) by providing appropriate documentation. Once registered, students will receive an accommodation letter which must be presented to the instructor when requesting accommodation. Students with disabilities should follow this procedure as early as possible in the semester. Accommodations are not retroactive, therefore, students should contact the office as soon as possible in the term for which they are seeking accommodations.

UNIVERSITY POLICY ON ACADEMIC INTEGRITY AND THE UF HONOR CODE: Academic honesty and integrity are fundamental values of the University community. UF students are bound by The Honor Pledge which states, “We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honor and integrity by abiding by the Honor Code. On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied: “On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment.” The Honor Code (sccr.dso.ufl.edu/process/student-conduct-code/) specifies a number of behaviors that are in violation of this code and the possible sanctions. Furthermore, you are obligated to report any condition that facilitates academic misconduct to appropriate personnel. If you have any questions or concerns, please consult with the instructors in this class.

UNIVERSITY POLICY ON IN-CLASS RECORDING. Students are allowed to record video or audio of class lectures. However, the purposes for which these recordings may be used are strictly controlled. The only allowable purposes are (1) for personal educational use, (2) in connection with a complaint to the university, or (3) as evidence in, or in preparation for, a criminal or civil proceeding. All other purposes are prohibited. Specifically, students may not publish recorded lectures without the written consent of the instructor.

A “class lecture” is an educational presentation intended to inform or teach enrolled students about a particular subject, including any instructor-led discussions that form part of the presentation, and delivered by any instructor hired or appointed by the University, or by a guest instructor, as part of a University of Florida course. A class lecture does not include lab sessions, student presentations, clinical presentations such as patient history, academic exercises involving solely student participation, assessments (quizzes, tests, exams), field trips, private conversations between students in the class or between a student and the faculty or lecturer during a class session.

Publication without permission of the instructor is prohibited. To “publish” means to share, transmit, circulate, distribute, or provide access to a recording, regardless of format or medium, to another person (or persons), including but not limited to another student within the same class section. Additionally, a recording, or transcript of a recording, is considered published if it is posted on or uploaded to, in whole or in part, any media platform, including but not limited to social media, book, magazine, newspaper, leaflet, or third party note/tutoring services. A student who publishes a recording without written consent may be subject to a civil cause of action instituted by a person injured by the publication and/or discipline under UF Regulation 4.040 Student Honor Code and Student Conduct Code.

NETIQUETTE – COMMUNICATION COURTESY: All members of the class are expected to follow rules of common courtesy in all email messages, threaded discussions and other correspondence. Please read the UF Netiquette Guide for Online Course.

COURSE EVALUATIONS: Students are expected to provide professional and respectful feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing course evaluations online via GatorEvals. Guidance on how to give feedback in a professional and respectful manner is available at <https://gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/students/>. Students will be notified when the evaluation period opens, and can complete evaluations through the email they receive from GatorEvals, in their Canvas course menu under GatorEvals, or via <https://ufl.bluera.com/ufl/>. Summaries of course evaluation results are available to students at <https://gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/public-results/>.
