COURSE DESCRIPTION: This course addresses the history and fundamental theory of planning. Understanding the history and theory of planning requires that we consider three separate but related elements. First, is the evolution of the city as a physical, social, and economic entity. Second, is the evolution of planning as a process, which takes us beyond the field of city planning. Cities have been planned and built by a wide variety of actors, including engineers, politicians, capitalists, architects, lawyers, doctors, radicals, conservatives, craftspeople, and workers. Third, planning has evolved in the United States and in Western Europe since the late 19th Century through a profession of people calling themselves city planners. They, too, have been very diverse, driven by many different motivations and seeing the profession in widely differing ways based upon, among other factors, the various theories of planning. These theories will be discussed within the context of the history of planning and their implications for planning practice. Because engaging with the public interest is integral to the planning profession and given the role planning has had in shaping urban and regional environments with direct consequences for quality of life, issues of social and racial justice form an essential framework throughout this course.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES: At the conclusion of this course, you should be able to:

- Classify and explain the various roles that planners play in the public and private sectors, and within specializations.
- Interpret the various styles of planning and planners' interactions with other participants in the development of cities and regions.
- Develop your own perspective on planning theory.
- Identify, analyze, and critique the justifications for planning and the influence of critical periods in planning history on contemporary planning practice.
- Strengthen
 - critical thinking skills,
 - presentation and verbal communication skills,

- evaluation and argumentation skills, and
- written communication skills that will be important in professional practice.
- Explore “key issues in equity, diversity, and social justice that emphasize planners’ role in expanding choice and opportunity for all persons, plan for the needs of the disadvantaged, reduce inequities through critical examination of past and current systems and disparities, and promote racial and economic integration” (PAB, 2017, p. 11).

HOW THIS COURSE RELATES TO THE STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES IN THE DEPARTMENT OF URBAN AND REGIONAL PLANNING: This course will allow students to demonstrate their understanding of human settlement, contemporary practice, organizational/institutional structures, and policies and processes relevant to the profession of planning. Students will demonstrate critical thinking and professional visual, oral, and written communication skills.

TEACHING PHILOSOPHY: This course is designed to allow students to practice the kinds of skills they will use as planning professionals. Assignments have been designed to develop the following skills that will be important in professional practice: (1) critical thinking; (2) presentation (verbal communication); (3) evaluation and criticism; (4) argumentation; and (5) written communication skills. In addition, this course is designed to enable you to begin thinking from an interdisciplinary perspective about the ways in which landscape architecture, planning, architecture, and historic preservation inform our work in the built environment and collaborative innovations that are moving these related fields forward.

INSTRUCTIONAL METHODS: This course will be run primarily as a seminar and will include reading assignments, lectures and class discussions, in-class presentations, and written assignments. Writing well is a critical skill in planning. Thus, being able to effectively communicate your ideas and analysis of course material in writing will form an important component of this course. Please note, the University standard is for students to expect to study at least 3 hours for each credit hour. So, for URP 6100 you should expect to study 9 hours per week outside of class.

COURSE COMMUNICATIONS: Email the instructor through the Canvas email.

COURSE POLICIES:

ATTENDANCE: Attendance is mandatory and is part of your class grade. Attendance will be recorded at the beginning of every class. After class, attendance will be entered into Canvas. There are two types of absences – excused and unexcused. Absences for reasons of illnesses, religious holidays, serious family emergencies, special curricular requirements, military obligations, court-imposed legal obligations, or participation in official university activities, as described in this link: UF Attendance Policies are excused. Please inform me of your absence as early as possible and be prepared to provide appropriate documentation. You are responsible for contacting a classmate to obtain notes on the materials covered.

Four (4) or more unexcused absences is considered excessive. After four (4) unexcused absences, I reserve the right to prohibit further class attendance and subsequently assign a failing grade.

Failure to attend class regularly and/or consistent tardiness (or leaving early) will affect your attendance and class participation evaluation dramatically. When you arrive more than 15 minutes late without explanation or leave early without prior approval, I consider that a missed class.

If you encounter an emergency or illness that may cause a prolonged absence, you should contact the Dean of Students Office (202 Peabody Hall, 392-1261) for assistance.

You are expected to come to class on time, do the readings ahead of time, be prepared to discuss them, be an active listener, and participate regularly. Your participation will contribute to the learning of your fellow classmates. The following rubric will be employed to assign participation points for each class.

Preferred	Acceptable	Won't ask you to leave	May ask you to leave	Will ask you to leave
Arrives on time	Arrives no more than 5 min late	Arrives no more than 10 min late	Arrives more than 10 min late (w/o explanation)	Absent
Comments are relevant and reflect understanding and good preparation	Comments are mostly relevant, but understanding may be slightly lacking	Comments are minimal ("yeah", "uh", "huh") and demonstrate poor preparation	No comments are made	Disruptive or rude comments are made
Clear enthusiasm	Not overly enthusiastic, but positive	Demeanor is sluggish	Sleeping, texting, online, disengaged	Drawing others into disrespectful behaviors (i.e., showing texts, passing notes)

STUDENTS PERSONAL CONDUCT POLICY: Above all else, the classroom is a place of respect for people and ideas. You are expected to treat your fellow classmates, the instructor, guests, and others with respect and politeness. Please be on time and prepared to share your informed questions, impressions, and interpretations of that day's reading materials. If you need to leave class early, please let me know ahead of time. We will take a break in the middle of the two-hour block. Students engaging in disruptive behavior, including using their electronic devices for any non-class uses, will be asked to leave the class and will be marked absent for the day.

GRADING POLICIES:

LATE ASSIGNMENTS: Meeting deadlines matters! All assignments are due as indicated on the Course Schedule. Computer problems that arise during submission will not be accepted as an excuse for late work. All work must be completed and submitted by the designated date and time in Canvas. Late assignments will be marked down half a grade for each day they are late (i.e., from a B+ to a B for being a day late). A day is defined as 24 hours and begins immediately from the due date and time (i.e., the assignment is due at 11:59 p.m. on Wednesday, and you submit it at 12:05 a.m. on Thursday - that assignment is now marked down as being one day late). Information in regard to UF's grading policy can be found here.
