Class Periods: Monday 7-9 period (ARCH 439)

Office Hours: Wednesday 1.00-3.00 PM and/or by appointment.

Course Objective:

This course offers an overview of selected important topics in economic development planning at the local, national, and international levels. Urban planning and economic development often intersect in the real world. Several economic development issues both at the micro and macro levels, such as employment, taxes, subsidy, human capital formation, investment, the influence of technology, rapid globalization, innovative entrepreneurship, and overall growth, significantly affect the built environment through many different channels. This course will evaluate some of these developmental issues and the channels using a theoretical and empirical perspective. This course also aims to give you an understanding of pressing issues in developing countries. The planning process in India (from 1950-current) will be discussed thoroughly and compared with different development models adopted internationally. This course will be applied in nature and will take an interdisciplinary approach.

Textbook:

Required: Nancy Green Leigh and Edward J. Blakely, Planning Local Economic Development (5th Edition), Sage Publication.

Recommended Texts:

Michael P. Todaro and Stephen C. Smith, Economic Development (11th Edition), Prentice Hall.

Course expectations:

I don't assume prior knowledge of economics. Some class time will be used to cover basics of economics.

Instructional Methods:

Classes will be conducted using lectures, discussions, and audio-visual presentations.

Course Requirements:

Weekly reading- you are expected to read and intellectually comprehend assigned readings for class discussion. 1-2 readings will be assigned each week (most of the weeks) for class discussion. Students are required to post their critical assessment of the readings by Saturday night (by 11:55 PM Saturday every week); prior to the class discussion on Monday. Article summaries will be discussed extensively in the class. The feedback on these readings will be given in class. However, the grades will be posted online within a week after the due date

Assignment- you are required to do 2 assignments. The assignments are an important component of the course and each will count toward your final grade. You will be given at least 7 days (announced in the class) to complete your assignments.

Class Presentation- each student is expected to present an assigned chapter from the textbook. Students will be notified in advance about the presentation. The instructor will present and discuss related material (not from the textbook) from various sources. These student presentations will count towards their final grades. The instructor and the fellow students will grade you on presentation clarity, depth, and on the ease of answering related questions.

Project- during the semester, students are expected to identify a research topic of their interest. The final project for the course includes a research idea (300-500 words), bibliography, a comprehensive research paper (not more than 12-15 double space pages excluding bibliography), and a presentation (20 minutes).

Grading:

- Assignment: 30% of the final grades (2X15%)
- Article Summary: 15% of the final grades (5 articles)
- Class Participation: 10% of the final grades
- Class Presentation: 5% of the final grades
- Final project:
- Research Idea: 5% of the final grades (Due 09/12)
- Bibliography: 5% of the final grades (Due 10/03)
- Presentation: 10% of the final grades (Due 11/28 & 12/05)
- Final Paper: 20% of the final grades (Due 12/08)

Accommodation for students with disabilities:

Students requesting classroom accommodation must first register with the Dean of Students Office (<http://www.dso.ufl.edu/drc/>). The Disability Resource Center in the Dean of Students Office provides students and faculty with information and support regarding accommodations for students with disabilities in the classroom. Staff at the Disability Resource Center will assist any student who registers as having a disability.

Online Privacy:

Our class sessions may be audio visually recorded for students in the class to refer back and for enrolled students who are unable to attend live. Students who participate with their camera engaged or utilize a profile image are agreeing to have their video or image recorded. If you are unwilling to consent to have your profile or video image recorded, be sure to keep your camera off and do not use a profile image. Likewise, students who unmute during class and participate orally are agreeing to have their voices recorded. If you are not willing to consent to have your voice recorded during class, you will need to keep your mute button activated and communicate exclusively using the "chat" feature, which allows students to type questions and comments live. The chat will not be recorded or shared. As in all courses, unauthorized recording and unauthorized sharing of recorded materials is prohibited.

Student Honor Code and Academic Honesty:

On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied:

"On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment."

Students must follow the University's policy regarding cheating and the use of copyrighted materials. Please visit <http://www.dso.ufl.edu/sccr/honorcodes/honorcode.php> for more information.

NETIQUETTE: COMMUNICATION COURTESY:

All members of the class are expected to follow rules of common courtesy in all forms of communication.
