PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT COURSE

PURPOSE OF COURSE

Professional engagements provide an important opportunity for students to enhance their learning experience by participating in a professional planning environment. Typical places of employment include regional planning councils, county planning agencies, city planning agencies, water management districts, metropolitan transportation planning organizations, private planning consulting firms, community action agencies, and state agencies.

Students are expected to play an active role in securing their professional engagement and should plan for their professional work ahead of time. There are a variety of websites that list available internships and professional opportunities, such as the American Planning Association (APA) and state and local chapters of the APA. Students should begin this search process at least two months prior to beginning the semester for the course and have their resumes ready to send to potential employers.

The firms and agencies that employ students for the professional development experience are not affiliated with the University of Florida. Students should promptly notify the coordinator if they encounter any circumstances that interfere with or impede their ability to complete their engagement.

Professional development experiences are professional in nature, not academic. As such, University-based experiences (e.g. research assistantships) are not eligible to be used for professional development.

WORK POLICIES FOR INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

There are special regulations that govern professional work engagements for international students. These regulations are mandated by US immigration laws and are administered by the UF International Center. Information on these regulations as well as required forms may be accessed on the UF International Center web page: <http://www.ufic.ufl.edu> as well as on the Square – Internship page.

INSTRUCTIONAL METHODS

The course consists of both “required” and “a la carte” assignments. Both categories of assignments are intended to relay, distill, and encourage discussion around the students’ professional experiences outside of the course.

There are typically 3 check-in Zoom meetings: a kickoff held during the first 2 weeks of the semester; a midpoint check-in around the midpoint of the semester; and a course closing within the last 2 weeks of the semester. These meetings are scheduled at the beginning of the semester and are typically held after work hours (e.g. after 5pm ET) to encourage attendance given professional commitments. Attendance is expected.

COURSE GOALS

This course familiarizes the students with planning practice through a non-academic professional experience. Based on their employer’s assignments, the student may collect and analyze data, work with residents and other stakeholders, prepare planning reports, conduct mapping exercises, and/or make presentations. By the end of this course, students will demonstrate their knowledge in collecting and assessing a range of data, thinking spatially, and communicating their recommendations both verbally and in writing. In doing so they will strengthen the following skills that will be important in professional practice:

- (1) critical thinking;
- (2) presentation (verbal communication);
- (3) evaluation and criticism;
- (4) argumentation; and
- (5) written communication skills.

HOW THIS COURSE RELATES TO THE STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES OF THE DEPARTMENT OF URBAN AND REGIONAL PLANNING

As a required course in the graduate program, Professional Development permits students to apply knowledge and skills in practice-based experiences, typically with existing projects and relates to three departmental student learning outcomes. These are:

- Demonstrate an understanding of human settlement, historical and contemporary practice, and policy and processes relevant to urban and regional planning concepts and theories.
- Demonstrate oral, written, and critical thinking skills required of master's students within their area of specialization.
- Display ethical behaviors, cultural sensitivity, teamwork, professional conduct and communication.

COURSE POLICIES

ATTENDANCE POLICY

As required by the employer. The student is expected to be professional and should model themselves after the planners of the host agency. For the course, the scheduled Zoom check-ins are expected. The instructor is not required to record or post meeting summaries, but may do so at their discretion.

LATE POLICY

Required assignments have associated due dates. Students should expect to complete these assignments on time: form submission, weekly discussion posts, midpoint reflection, and final portfolio. A la carte assignments are open for the entirety of the semester and must be submitted by the final day of classes for the semester. Accommodations can be made on a case-by-case basis for students with validated documentation (e.g. medical note, Disability Resource Center communication).

COURSE EVALUATIONS

Students are expected to provide professional and respectful feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing course evaluations online via GatorEvals. Guidance on how to give feedback in a professional and respectful manner is available at <https://gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/students/>. Students will be notified when the evaluation period opens, and can complete evaluations through the email they receive from GatorEvals, in their Canvas course menu under GatorEvals, or via <https://bluera.com/ufl/>. Summaries of course evaluation results are available to students at <https://gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/publicresults/>.

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA POLICIES

UNIVERSITY POLICY ON ACCOMMODATING STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES

Students requesting accommodation for disabilities must first register with the Dean of Students Office (<http://www.dso.ufl.edu/drc/>). The Dean of Students Office will provide documentation to the student who must then provide this documentation to the instructor when requesting accommodation. Students must submit this documentation prior to submitting assignments or taking the quizzes or exams. Accommodations are not retroactive, therefore, students should contact the office as soon as possible in the term for which they are seeking accommodations.

UNIVERSITY POLICY ON ACADEMIC MISCONDUCT

Academic honesty and integrity are fundamental values of the University community. Students should be sure that they understand the UF Student Honor Code at <http://www.dso.ufl.edu/students.php>.

ONLINE LEARNING

Our class sessions may be audio visually recorded for students in the class to refer back and for enrolled students who are unable to attend live. Students who participate with their camera engaged or utilize a profile image are agreeing to have their video or image recorded. If you are unwilling to consent to have your profile or video image recorded, be sure to keep your camera off and do not use a profile image. Likewise, students who unmute during class and participate orally are agreeing to have their voices recorded. If you are not willing to consent to have your voice recorded during class, you will need to keep your mute button activated and communicate exclusively using the “chat” feature, which allows students to type questions and comments live. The chat will not be recorded or shared. As in all courses, unauthorized recording and unauthorized sharing of recorded materials is prohibited.

ASSIGNMENT POLICIES

Each assignment, where appropriate, has a grading rubric based on the instructions. In general, most assignments are marked as complete/incomplete. Full credit requires the following: attending to the instructions, demonstrating a solid understanding of the course topics and goals, research and analysis if required, compelling writing and presentation, proper source attribution, and timely submittal.

Students must follow the University's Honor Code, which includes issues of cheating, plagiarism, and honesty. See <http://www.correspondencestudy.ufl.edu/students/handbook/Plagiarism/PlagiarismAlert.html> for guidance to avoid plagiarism and other Honor Code violations.

Each student must submit work that is conducted by them alone, unless group collaboration is specified. Submissions must be original to this course (i.e. not the student's work from another course, unless it is used as a reference and properly cited). The instructor will screen assignments for plagiarism using the text-matching tool Turnitin (<http://turnitin.com/static/index.html>).

SPECIAL NOTE REGARDING ADVANCED AUTOMATION TOOLS (E.G. CHATGPT)

Students are expected to use technology in this class; technology can be as useful for writers as a calculator is for mathematicians. Some tools such as styles, automated cross-references, and spell check in Microsoft Word may already be familiar to you. Other tools, such as ChatGPT for summarizing articles, may be less familiar. These tools require understanding, practice, and quality-control.

If students choose to utilize automated tools (e.g. artificial intelligence, learning tools like ChatGPT) the content and utilization must be appropriately cited. Further, these tools should not be used in a copy-paste fashion; at best, they can be attributed as a collaborator. Note that assignments, unless otherwise noted, must be completed individually – i.e. products of your own, unaided mind.

Failure to properly use, cite, or collaborate with automation tools is violation of the academic honesty policies. All submissions are subject to plagiarism and aid checks.

NETIQUETTE

COMMUNICATION COURTESY

All members of the class are expected to follow rules of common courtesy in all email messages, threaded discussions, communications, and meetings: <https://teach.ufl.edu/wp-content/uploads/2020/04/NetiquetteGuideforOnlineCourses.docx>
